Jai Jagannath!

Dear Friends,

For the third time in a row, TSJ is releasing late. Again, I take every responsibility for that. No excuses, it's my fault...reasons are all personal. I again apologize and promise to bring out the next issue on time.

The late release is already taking its toll on the number of submissions. Its only six this time. But for the first time we have received a full drama text. The rest of the papers are also on varied themes–Folk Theatre to Natya Shastra–I am sure you will enjoy reading them. Plus, an interview of Indian maestro M K Raina and a review of a book on the legendary Badal Sircar–Incidentally, 2024 happens to be his centenary.

From this issue, we have a new Editorial Board and one more new Assistant Editor. I welcome all the esteemed Members on the board. Looking forward to working with you all. Thanks you authors. Happy Reading!
