

Jai Jagannath!

Dear Friends,

For the second time in a row, TSJ is releasing late. Again, I take every responsibility for that. No excuses, it's my fault...reasons are all personal. I again apologize and promise to bring out the next issue on time.

It is a matter of great surprise to me that inspite of TSJ's humble existence authors are still sending papers. And people across the globe are continuing to show their interest in the Journal. At times, I think of closing it down but a young researcher comes up with a paper and I get motivated.

From this issue, we have a new Editorial Board. I welcome all the esteemed Members on the board. Looking forward to working with you all.

Thanks you authors.

Happy Reading!
